

Peer review and Publication Policy

It is a peer-reviewed journal published once every year. After receiving the manuscripts from contributors we send them to the reviewers for blind review. The reviewer's decision in this regard is considered final. Depending on the reviewer's decision, the manuscript will be accepted or may be rejected or may be modified by authors. Minor modifications may be done by the Editorial Committee. We aim to complete the review process within reasonable time.

- Plagiarism of any sort is a crime and is unethical. The contributor if found to have plagiarised from any pre-published sources will not be considered for publication in this journal in future.
- A simultaneous submission of the same manuscript to different journals is not permitted.
- Members of the Editorial Board will not use the data of the submitted papers for the purpose of their own research.
